

THOMAS HERALD

Personal Injury Trial Law

Veteran trial lawyer Tom Herald represents hard-working people who have been severely injured by the negligence of others. The dedication he brings to his clients' cases is a natural extension of his own working-class roots. Herald knows the other side's playbook, because he used to represent defendants and insurance companies in the very lawsuits that he prosecutes today. This has given him an edge that most lawyers don't have, and an insight that benefits his clients.

The Montes Herald Law Group is a small firm with a big footprint. The firm's practice includes cases involving burn injuries, explosion incidents, traumatic brain injuries, workplace negligence, spinal cord injuries, drunk driving cases, car wrecks, homeowners claims, and others. The firm's practice spans Texas, from the DFW area, to the Panhandle, as well as Houston, El Paso, Austin, East Texas, the South Texas Valley and beyond. "When you come to see us, you get a team approach to your case. We start with the belief that cases are prepared for trial from day one, because that's what gets the best results, and that's when you are taken seriously" says Herald. "We are no strangers to the courtroom."

Tom is proud of the fact that he gets a wide variety of personal injury cases referred to him by other lawyers, lawyers who have placed well-deserved and well-earned trust in his ability to maximize the value of each case he takes on. "This ain't his first rodeo" says noted criminal defense lawyer Casey Cole. "I refer my clients who have injury cases to Tom because my clients are in great hands with him. Tom has taken difficult cases and made significant recoveries for the clients I have referred to him."

"We focus on people here, when I meet with my client, I am learning their story and envisioning jury selection and opening statement. Everything we do is designed to achieve success for our clients quickly and efficiently. To achieve that, no stone is left unturned. Our clients become family. We make them our highest priority."

Tom is a member of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, American Association for Justice, as well as the Dallas Trial Lawyers Association. Above all, he is the proud father of Camden, his pride and joy.

EDUCATION

J.D., Texas Tech School of Law, 1991;
University of Texas at Austin, B.A. Psychology (summa cum laude)

MONTES HERALD LAW GROUP, LLP

1121 Kinwest Parkway
Suite 100
Irving, Texas 75063
214.522.9401
Thomas@MontesHerald.com
www.MontesHerald.com

